The worst critique of Hitler I've ever read.

deboonking a comment that was way too long.

In typical internet autist fashion, I recently received a comment that was in no way related to the post it was under. In this case, a user decided to make a comment that was frankly too long deriding Hitler for various perceived faults & such on a note I made announcing an unrelated article. Here is the comment in its entirety:

Why the Austrian Painter was sus and not based:

He was formerly, during WWI, a Marxist Social Democrat, member and activist in a somewhat revolutionary party led by a Jew.

He entered the German Worker's Party as a spy and was most likely still a Marxist at the time.

He had a Jewish medium, called Erik Jan Hanussen.

He had a Jewish doctor that administered meth to him, something he also had administered to his armed forces.

He was an avid Anglophile, as can be seen in Mein Kampf and how he spared them at Dunkirk, when he could have defeated the UK by capturing hundreds of thousands of enemy combatants, before more blood was shed.

He backstabbed Gottfried Feder and instead appointed a Freemason, called Hjalmar Schacht, as Minister of Finance, who connected Germany to the BIS and created the "economic miracle" by taking huge loans from Jewish banks.

He had Engelbert Dollfuss killed to make Anschluss happen, after which he threw his own assassins under the bus.

He sent guns to the Republicans during the Spanish Civil War, to prolong the war, in order to weaken his own allies in both Spain and Italy.

He established the majority Jewish demographic in Palestine via the Haavara Agreement and Zionist terrorists like Lehi supported him for this reason among others.

His hatred towards the French and Slavs was racial, not ideological, and the Lebensraum idea expounded on in Mein Kampf relied inherently on genociding or deporting those peoples that lived east of the German border.

He set up Aktion T4 with its anti-Christian, Social Darwinist program of euthanasia for the "unfit".

He established "Positive Christianity" as an attempt to co-opt churches and their theologies, with Nazi metaphysics as a pseudo-religion.

He allowed pagan pageants and revivals, ransacking masonic temples but only for the SS, Thule and Vril societies to keep doing the same satanic ritual activities as the Freemasons, using the tools and knowledge they had aquired from them.

He warmongered against and broke diplomatic agreements with basically all European nations who wouldn't fully support his continuous annexations even after Anschluss was completed, they would probably even have let him have Czechoslovakia without much fuss if he had just stopped there.

His imperial ambitions were implemented in the form of a racial caste system to subjugate the occupied populations as legally inferior to the German settlers, which makes his annexations of those lands all the more gross.

He backstabbed the hero Codreanu and his Legionnaires.

He subjugated these European populations, i.e. excluding Jews and Gypsies, in the camps, by making them forcibly produce stuff for American companies, even after the US itself had entered the war this continued.

So much for the hero of Aryans or Europe, who'd take White brother peoples captive and kill, exploit and sell them to foreigners because they differ slighly from his own people.

Oh, and at the end of the war there were Black people and Muslims in the Waffen SS, the same Waffen SS that he set up the Lebensborn program for.

Hitler was a traitor to the Cause of Christ, Europe and Fascism.

I'll assume, based on his pfp being the symbol of Österrreich's Fatherland Front & his defense of Dalfus that this man is likely some sort of "Clerical Fascist" or otherwise "Classical Fascist." People who were around iFunny or Discord back in the 2019-2021 timeframe likely have experienced these types before, as a lot of the TradCaths at the time espoused these ideologies including users like Zaoist & LifeIsBeautiful. I'll touch on why this is retard later, but for now let's address his points.

"He was formerly, during WWI, a Marxist Social Democrat, member and activist in a somewhat revolutionary party led by a Jew."

This is simply made up. For starters, there's no evidence of this. Rather, it's well known Hitler hated the SocDems from his early years working in Vienna. He never joined a political organization until joining the DAP. Regardless, even if this was true, it ultimately doesn't matter because the program of the NSDAP held basically nothing in common with the SPD, and later persecuted its leaders.

"He entered the German Worker's Party as a spy and was most likely still a Marxist at the time."

This is actually true. However, Zynark words it in a way to make you think Hitler was spying on behalf of Communists or something. Hitler was still in the Reichswehr at the time & was put into service (after being wounded at the front) with an intelligence unit. Bavaria, at this time, was in a state of civil war due to the Spartacus Uprisings. And again, Hitler was never a Marxist nor do any credible sources claim so. This is a complete fabrication by Zynark.

It should be noted that the Reichswehr was not at odds with the small DAP & most of it's membership in the following years came from veterans. Hitler left the Reichswehr in 1920 & became a full time activist.

"He had a Jewish medium, called Erik Jan Hanussen."

Hanussen is actually quite a weird case. He was not a medium (meaning someone who talks with the dead), rather he was more of a showman who made his living as a fortune teller. Unlike people like Himmler or Rosenberg, Hanussen did not take his interests in the occult seriously & generally made fun from it. He was the Chris Angel of his day. Despite being a Morovian Jew, he was apparently supportive of the NSDAP & gave lessons to Hitler on public speaking & dramatic effect. He allegedly predicted the Reichstag Fire of 1933.

Regardless of any odd political beliefs or chicanery, Hanussen was killed by the SA in 1933. He was not mourned by any in the NSDAP, so clearly he wasn't that important to Hitler or the others.

"He had a Jewish doctor that administered meth to him, something he also had administered to his armed forces."

Eduard Broch, an Österreicher Jew, was not Hitlers personally procured doctor. He was the local doctor of the Hitler family (before Hitler was even born). Hitler rather famously protected Broch, due to his kind treatment of the family while Hitler's mother was suffering from cancer, and allowed him & his family to leave for the US. An interesting story, to say the least.

I couldn't find anything saying Broch gave Hitler methamphetamine, and it's very unlikely as meth did not begin being used medically until almost 1930. Also, almost every country used meth during the war, including the allies, so whatever point he was trying to make there is moot. Meth didn't even require a prescription in the US until the late 50's, to say it's harmful effects weren't known is an understatement.

"He was an avid Anglophile, as can be seen in Mein Kampf and how he spared them at Dunkirk, when he could have defeated the UK by capturing hundreds of thousands of enemy combatants, before more blood was shed."

I'm not sure why he brought this up as a negative, but at least this one's true. Hitler highly admired the UK & it's colonies. This should be obvious as Anglo-Saxons are, in fact, a Germanic tribe. Again, I don't get how this was supposed to be negative.

Capturing the forces at Dunkirk wouldn't have changed much, they were a very small element of the Royal Military & wider allied forces. Hitler decision to halt at Dunkirk is somewhat controversial, but most agree it was a gesture of good will to avoid war with Britain which Hitler repeatedly tried to avoid.

"He backstabbed Gottfried Feder and instead appointed a Freemason, called Hjalmar Schacht, as Minister of Finance, who connected Germany to the BIS and created the "economic miracle" by taking huge loans from Jewish banks."

Feder is actually a favorite of mine, he was the principal individual of the economic left wing of the NSDAP. Specifically the section that we're "Beefcake Nazis" turned traitors like the Super Strasser Bros. Something many will know about this time is that Hitler made the tactical decision to not persue the hardline economic policies of the NSDAP in order to cultivate the party's relationship with German industry, a necessary measure for rearmament. Instead, the economic policies would be a gradual shift to take place slowly. Feder wasn't "betrayed," he was likely fully aware of this situation & remained loyal till his death. Schacht was a more fiscally conservative man who disagreed with Feder, although both were well under the umbrella of what can be considered National Socialism with its flexible economic policies.

Regardless of his economic experience, Schacht was ultimately never a NatSoc (declared an honorary NSDAP member in 1937, but this was taken back later.) & was a traitor as he was a member of the resistance. It is also a true he was Freemason (I couldn't find any source saying the NSDAP knew this). Although he was tactically useful in the mid-30's, he honestly shouldn't have been involved in the government - but this is a perspective made in hindsight.

All in all, I'll give Zynark this one. I could find nothing substantiating the claim about Jewish banks, so I'll assume another thing made up in this dudes head.

"He had Engelbert Dollfuss killed to make Anschluss happen, after which he threw his own assassins under the bus."

Dollfuss, for those unaware, was the leader of Österreich's Fatherland Front. His politics are referred to today as "Astrofascism." He was also 5'0, lmao. I will encourage anyone curious to look into Austrofascism themselves, but to give you a summary it's essential diet Fascism without anything useful. Civic nationalism, cucking to the Vatican, loves Jews, etc. The only people I've ever met that supported Austrifascism were the typical le trad Catholics who were mad that Hitler & Mussolini didn't care about their cult. Dollfuss getting shot was a good thing, and also impressive considering what a small target the man was.

I assume the part about throwing the assassins under the bus is in reference to Hitler publicly disavowing the 1934 coup after it's failure. Obviously, this aligns to any clandestine operations. Plausible deniability & all that. The CIA does the same when their regime changes fail, it's simply a fact of clandestine warfare.

"He sent guns to the Republicans during the Spanish Civil War, to prolong the war, in order to weaken his own allies in both Spain and Italy."

This is a half truth. Göring, via Rhinemetall, shipped small arms to the Republican side during the war. The Republicans were not aware of this, and it's been noted that the equipment sent was much older & of poorer quality than the official aid given to the Nationalists. The lie is that this was to prolong the war, as this notion isn't supported by the actions of Germans supporters (who very much were acting to win the war) nor the beliefs of Hitler himself (who wanted to end the war as he feared it would spread into a continental war that Germany had not yet prepared for.) The obvious reason they did this was to make money off of obsolete equipment.

For context, Spain & Germany were only circumstantial allies. Franco & Hitler's ideologies were radically different, they were both simply of the general right wing. Hitler & other supporters of the Nationalists were more concerned with avoiding an outright leftist government in Spain.

"He established the majority Jewish demographic in Palestine via the Haavara Agreement and Zionist terrorists like Lehi supported him for this reason among others."

Don't care. Jews being outside of Germany was the goal, that goal was met. Madagascar, Palestine, doesn't matter. As long as they're gone.

"His hatred towards the French and Slavs was racial, not ideological, and the Lebensraum idea expounded on in Mein Kampf relied inherently on genociding or deporting those peoples that lived east of the German border."

Again, don't care. This is very basic NatSoc ideology. Slavs being pushed east of the Urals isn't our problem, so long as it benefits the volk. Frenchmen weren't hated by the NSDAP though, they simply weren't German (except northern Frankenreich). Zynark seems to have an extremely loose grasp on what Nationalism means.

"He set up Aktion T4 with its anti-Christian, Social Darwinist program of euthanasia for the "unfit"."

I won't bother entertaining the "anti-Christian" part, it's both true & also a good thing.

Aktion T4 was a euthanasia program directed towards retards, downies, etc. I won't judge anyone for having some moral issue with this program or how it was carried out, as I now many individuals would rather utilize less abrasive methods like sterilization, including myself.

Regardless, Social Darwinism is cool. Quality is far more important than equality.

"He established "Positive Christianity" as an attempt to co-opt churches and their theologies, with Nazi metaphysics as a pseudo-religion."

This one is true. I won't bother reiterating views on xtianity that I'm sure everyone is familiar with.

"He allowed pagan pageants and revivals, ransacking masonic temples but only for the SS, Thule and Vril societies to keep doing the same satanic ritual activities as the Freemasons, using the tools and knowledge they had aquired from them."

This is the sort of idiocy that can only come from a Catholic.

I'm sure I don't need to tell anyone that the Thule Society had virtually nothing in common with Freemasonry. Regardless, the Thule society was, in fact, banned by Hitler because of his general disdain for secret societies. The Vril society didn't exist.

Pagan revivalism was mostly a carry over from the wider Volkisch movement & is a good thing.

"He warmongered against and broke diplomatic agreements with basically all European nations who wouldn't fully support his continuous annexations even after Anschluss was completed, they would probably even have let him have Czechoslovakia without much fuss if he had just stopped there."

Some of these are confusing as they're extremely well known to anyone but he says them like it's some esoteric knowledge lost to history.

But yeah, WWII did in fact happen. Anyone also knows that the war was basically unavoidable, due to the massive differences in ideology & goals of Germany, the allies & most of all the USSR. To think there was ever a peaceful outcome to the situation of 1930's Europe is naive & moronic.

"His imperial ambitions were implemented in the form of a racial caste system to subjugate the occupied populations as legally inferior to the German settlers, which makes his annexations of those lands all the more gross."

Womp womp. The Nazis, contrary to popular belief, were actually kind of racist. Why would a Nationalist group look to expand the status of its own nation? Crazy stuff.

I'm not sure where this whole idea that "all White people are equal" started, but it's genetically & historically false.

"He backstabbed the hero Codreanu and his Legionnaires."

This is another lie. Virtually all the setbacks Codreanu faced were from the Romanian government. Despite sharing a government, the Iron Guard launched a coup in 1941 against the already Axis allied government & failed, getting themselves kicked out of the government. Many ended up taking refuge in Germany afterwards. While I generally admire Codreanu & the Iron Guard, they basically killed themselves in 1941 for no good reason.

"He subjugated these European populations, i.e. excluding Jews and Gypsies, in the camps, by making them forcibly produce stuff for American companies, even after the US itself had entered the war this continued."

This isn't true, Germany was blockaded after the Battle of Britain & wouldn't even be able to export by sea. Regardless, this isn't even some grand moral issue. Vae victis, now make yourselves useful.

"So much for the hero of Aryans or Europe, who'd take White brother peoples captive and kill, exploit and sell them to foreigners because they differ slightly from his own people."

Again peddling this myth of White equality. It may seem strange from an American point of view, but race is far more than skin deep. There's a reason Minsk & Berlin have a significant quality difference. All this shows is that Zynark has no understanding of genetics or European peoples. The "sell them to foreigners" part doesn't make sense, it would imply he sold Slavs as slaves or something but nothing like this occurred.

"Oh, and at the end of the war there were Black people and Muslims in the Waffen SS, the same Waffen SS that he set up the Lebensborn program for."

Yes, at the end of the war when there was a massive shortage of manpower.

There were no blacks in the SS, the closest thing would be people from the Balkans & the Caucasus, in other words they were predominantly European. The inclusion of Muslims doesn't matter because they aren't any better or worse than xtians. Anyone who's versed in this will know that the few non-Germanic volunteers were simply brought in as manpower, they were not considered SS members due to their ethnicity & wouldn't have any place in the Reich post war.

He ends this weird rant with "Hitler was a traitor to the Cause of Christ, Europe and Fascism." All of which is just goofy.

So, what did we learn? Well, obviously this fellow is a Catholic. His idea of Europe is probably some nonsense about the crusades or medieval churches, seeing as he has clear CivNat tendencies. As stated before, the only people dumb enough to subscribe to Austrifascism are Catholics who don't want to be mean racists. Even Mussolini & Gentile, for the more Classical Fascists, were very much at odds with xtianity & especially the Vatican (aka the most anti-White organization in history & biggest importer of niggers & arabs into Europe today.). All of these types are just slightly more radical versions of Nick Fuentes, and rarely have any real understanding of Fascism or even Nationalism. They also tend to be quite neurotic about their ideology, as we can see here when Zynark makes up completely unsubstantiated lies about Hitler & the NSDAP or latches on to extremely minor things as some sort of gotcha. Truly effeminate behavior.

Quite an idiotic bunch that I'm only familiar with because I used to be one back in my Catholic days. Fortunately, I matured out of that & so did most of those I knew. Honestly, this is the first unironic Austrifascist I've met in years. Glad to see they're still mad that their midget leader got shot by a trve Aryan trapstar.

Did you really think a nigga named Englebert that's the size of a 4th grader was the man to follow? Lol, lmao.

This dude is mad that Germany killed other people with white skin like slavs, but then when he doesn't kill other white people at Dunkirk, he's also mad about that? Very schizophrenic worldview! Feel bad for the guy, he's clearly losing it!

This christian complaining about Germans wanting to set up a racial caste system in non-German lands would very likely celebrate the Norman Conquest of England, or Charlemagne's actions towards the pagan Saxons. This is what I've noticed with them.
Catholic imperialism, wiping out folk traditions, subverting and lying like kikes? That's based. Racial Imperialism? Satanic and GROSS!
